Connaissances préalables recommandées

The minimum entry level on this Module is B2.1.

Objectifs

At the end of this module, students will be able to:

- take part in group discussions, focussing on accuracy, range and appropriacy, including talking about trends, graphs and figures
- understand detail in authentic oral and written texts relating to finance, accounting and the economy (listening and reading)
- plan and write business contexts including reports
- use passive forms and relative pronouns correctly
- use a specified range of noun and preposition combinations correctly
- evaluate own language level on the CEFR and set appropriate learning goals with the help of the teacher

Topics: Finance and Accounting

Lessons in this module are based on the themes of finance and accounting. Classwork will involve speaking activities and vocabulary work relating to these themes, in addition to work on specific grammar points. Regular reading and listening exercises based on authentic texts and recordings will help students to understand complex texts and improve their reading and listening comprehension.

Written work deals with reports. This involves greater emphasis on structuring and developing texts than in previous modules. A key focus in this module is the ability to describe and compare trends based on statistics, charts and graphs.

Students should aim to have reached B2.2 in both speaking and writing at the end of this module.
